

The Campbell Hausfeld House Painter

Introducing the Newest MVP of Powered Paint Application

Campbell Hausfeld empowers do-it-yourselfers to effectively enhance the look of their homes by introducing the House Painter, an indoor/outdoor airless paint sprayer designed to be the easiest to use on the market.

"Based on our research, we have learned the average homeowner finds powered painting applicators-especially airless paint sprayers-much more intimidating than a manual brush or roller. At the same time, homeowners desire the professional finish that can only be provided by a sprayer," said Pam Melton, senior product manager of Campbell Hausfeld paint systems. "The goal of the House Painter is to build homeowners' painting confidence by providing them with a tool that is fast and powerful, yet at the same easy to control and clean."

To operate, homeowners simply place the House Painter's suction hose into the paint or stain can and turn its dial to the application they are about to perform- prime, roll, spray, or clean. The House Painter adjusts the pressure on its own, taking the guesswork out of operation. Featuring a 1/4 horsepower motor that distributes .25 gallons per minute, homeowners simply need to pull the trigger for an even, professional finish.

Homeowners can clean the House Painter in a matter of minutes by flushing the system with water and rinsing the sprayer's tip.

In addition to a professional finish, the House Painter provides unmatched versatility. Unlike other DIY airless units, the House Painter can tackle both exterior AND interior painting projects, such as:

- Walls
- Cabinetry
- Furniture
- Siding
- Decks
- Fences

The House Painter can accommodate a roller accessory and can be adapted for a variety of paint and stain container shapes.

The House Painter is available at home centers nationwide for a homeowner-friendly suggested retail of $199. For more information, consumers may call 1-888-CHPOWER (247-6937) or visit www.chpower.com.
